The Stewardship Network is coming to New England: We need to hear from you!

Please join us to learn about a new regional effort to increase the capacity of conservation organizations, agencies, and researchers to engage with volunteers in the care and study of ecosystems, lands, and waters.

Click here (http://extension.unh.edu/Volunteer/Stewardship-Network-New-England) to read more about this initiative.

We are hosting regional meetings to learn more about the interest, capacity, leadership, enthusiasm and challenges for creating a local collaborative effort in your region. The sessions are designed to learn more and share ideas on how this initiative can meet your needs for stewardship of our lands and waters.
