Driver's Notes for RLOKC Race #8

Use those Sanzaru Bucks and other awards – If you have been collecting up Sanzaru Bucks this year, or have some free race or practice awards from last year's Awards Banquet, then plan on using them up over the next two races. There is a list at Registration as to who has credits coming to them, so just ask if you have credits. If you are unsure if you have any credits, also just ask at Registration. Credits will not be carried over into 2015.

Review Your Points – It is that time of year when people really start watching the championship points. So please review your points carefully over these last couple of races and if anyone thinks there be an error in your drivers points total, please let me know and we can look over the points and double check the current point's total. The best time to see me on this would be on Saturday afternoon where we can go into the tower and look at the results and points detail in the scoring computer.

New 2015 Mini Max chassis specs now set – I have just seen the new Mini Max chassis specs that will be enforced next year. You can see these specs on the National Rotax website (gorotax.com) or pick up a copy at Registration or in the scoring tower this coming weekend.

Hope to this all of you this coming weekend.

Thanks, Ric Shaw

Race Director of the Red Line Oil Karting Championships