PRESS RELEASE

HANG CHEN WINS NATIONAL NAAAP LEADERSHIP AWARD

August 10, 2013—Hang Ping Chen was awarded the National Leadership Award at the 31st Annual National Association of Asian American Professionals (NAAAP) International Convention, held in Toronto this year. Chen serves on the NAAAP-Seattle Executive Advisory Board. He graduated from EDI's Discovery program, Class of 2008.

The NAAAP National Leadership Award is given to three NAAAP members who exemplify NAAAP's vision and mission of cultivating and preparing more Asians to take on personal and professional leadership roles. The award is a major achievement for NAAAP-Seattle, which competed with 26 other chapters across the US and Canada.

In 2009-2010, Chen led NAAAP-Seattle's Professional Development as its program chair. In 2011-2012, he served as the chapter's National Representative and National Liaison. He continues to serve on the NAAAP-Seattle Executive Advisory Board and as a mentor to numerous NAAAP-Seattle members. Chen is an engineer at Boeing.
