

Hudson Energy

While there are some things you can predict, there are others you simply can't.

One of those that you can't is future energy prices. Hudson Energy is a unique company specializing in working with businesses and helping them to better manage their energy costs. Individual Account Representatives, who commit their time and efforts to analyze and manage the energy costs of their customers, develop strategies and programs specific to each company. Then over time they keep the business owner updated on changes that may allow for a reduction in cost or help to avoid or minimize the negative effect of rising costs. The effectiveness of these efforts has resulted in a 95% customer retention, with many customers having been with Hudson Energy for many years.

As one of the largest and fastest growing business to business suppliers of electric and natural gas commodity in North America, large and small business owners alike look to Hudson Energy to provide reliability and certainty for their energy purchases in a volatile energy market. We've been serving commercial customers in the Chicagoland area since 2002 as well as throughout the United States and Canada. With its recent expansion into Europe and plans for growth into Asia and South America, Hudson Energy continues to be a highly recognized leader in the energy field throughout the world.

Working with many partners and multiple sales channels, we believe that customers should have access to independent, professional energy advisers equipped with the industry knowledge and experience to help business owners make the most informed decisions. Our industry expertise and leading-edge proprietary technology uniquely positions us in the commercial market to provide customers with highly competitive pricing and a wide variety of product options with innovative, efficient and timely pricing and deal management service. Hudson Energy offers fixed price and term contracts as well as variable price and term products.
