The College of Physicians of Philadelphia Section on Public Health

Public Health Day Symposium

As a public health professional, we'd like to invite you to submit a proposal for presentation at The College of Physicians of Philadelphia's First Annual Public Health Symposium 2014 to be held at the College of Physicians of Philadelphia on Monday, April 7, 2014 from 8:30 AM to 12:30 PM. The Public Health Symposium kicks off Public Health Week and provides a unique collaborative environment for all academic, community, and government public health professionals in the greater Philadelphia region.

The presentation could be about program design, program implementation, or program evaluation and should be based on data analysis. The design of the Symposium will depend on the presentations that get submitted and could include individual presentations of various lengths, panel discussions and/or a poster session.

Thank you for your interest,

Amalia M. Issa, PhD, MPH and Robert Sharrar, MD, MSc.

Directions

Please provide the following:

- The topic area that the presentation will address
- A title
- A brief (1-3 paragraphs; 350 word count limit) explanation of how the presentation will address the topic.
- Please select a program or initiative from your public health organization or unit that addresses the collaborative linkages (for example an academic program might select an area where they are actively partnering with a state or county health department; or a community public health organization might select an initiative in which they worked with state legislatures to change a policy). Please indicate the number of people your program/initiative impacts and specify the public health impact.
- You may submit more than one proposal for presentation from your organization if you wish.
- Presenter(s) must be public health professionals (i.e. no student presentations please). However, students are encouraged to attend the session because it would give them an opportunity to meet the public health professionals in the Delaware Valley Area.
