The Canadian Memorial To The Victims of Communism, located in the nation's capital, will stand forever as reminder of the unspeakable suffering born by the victims of communist regimes around the world and as a tribute to the liberty and hope that Canada has provided to the refugees who escaped that tyranny.

In September 2009 Tribute to Liberty, received approval from the National Capital Commission (NCC) to build a Memorial to Victims of Communism and in May of 2012, land was allocated between the Library and Archives Canada and The Supreme Court of Canada on Wellington Street in Ottawa.

Join The Right Honourable, Prime Minister, Stephen Harper on Friday, May 30, to help build this important Canadian memorial for the victims of communism.

WITH PRIME MINISTER
STEPHEN HARPER
