

About kAos Group

We are a Toronto-based professional and personal organizing consultancy. As organizational experts we craft work flow solutions, develop systems and implement processes that help individuals and companies reach sustainable levels of productivity for long term success.

The extensive experience of our team allows us to provide exemplary professional organizing services for both individuals and teams in their work places AND living spaces.

Using the kAos Group Benchmarking process we are able to help identify inefficiencies – the clutter and disorganization that prevent professional and personal growth – and streamline business and personal lives to reduce stress and increase profits, productivity and peace of mind.

About Deanne Kelleher

Deanne Kelleher, the pragmatic and energetic leader behind kAos Group's vision and patented Core Four System™ successfully and passionately helps clients identify and implement needed changes to enhance organization in their professional and personal lives.

She works with kAos Group clients as a speaker, trainer and part-time faculty at Centennial College. It's her mission to be educational and entertaining to ensure clients and audiences alike are presented with the most appropriate information and relevant insights and empowered with practical tools to enhance or support organizational systems.

If you'd like to meet Deanne you can watch her live at www.kaosgroup.com.

If you'd like to know if she was really rearranging furniture and labelling spice jars at 9 years old, you'll need to call her directly.
