

Child & Adolescent Social Work Journal* Editorial Board: Call for Self-Nominations

The Child & Adolescent Social Work Journal is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Lisa Schelbe and Dr. Bruce Thyer, as the new Co-Editors of the journal, effective January, 2015. Invitations are extended to members of the social work community to apply for a three-year appointment to the journal's new Editorial Board, for the period 2015-2017. Editorial Board members should be professional social workers with a background commensurate with the journal's purposes. This would normally include receipt of a doctoral degree, post-MSW practice experience, and having authored a number of scholarly publications related to social work practice with children, adolescents and their families. Editorial Board members are expected to use the Journal Article Reporting Standards found in the latest edition of the APA Style Manual, as appropriate, in preparing their analyses of data-based submissions. In addition, knowledge of the principles of evidence-based practice and the work of the Cochrane and Campbell Collaborations is preferred. Editorial Board members are expected to accept for review about six issues per year, and to make use of the journal's web-based portal known as Editorial Manager to receive manuscripts and to submit their reviews. New Editorial Board members should be available to receive manuscripts for review beginning in January 2015. Usually, each week the Co-Editors send an email to the Editorial Board announcing what papers are available for review, and Editorial Board members self-select the papers they will review.

Interested social workers are invited to submit a cover letter expressing an interest in being appointed to the Editorial Board, along with a current c.v., (both formatted in Word), to either Co-Editor, Lisa Schelbe, Ph.D., lschelbe@fsu.edu, or Bruce A. Thyer, Ph.D., LCSW, at bthyer@fsu.edu. General inquiries regarding an Editorial Board appoint may also be directed to either Co-Editor.