NORTH CHICAGO, IL – Dana Frederick, Project and Application Services Director in the Department of Information Technology Services, has been selected by the Staff Recognition Awards Program (SRAP) as the November 2012 Rosalind Franklin University Staff Member of the Month.

Dana joined the university in 1992 as Admissions Manager for the Chicago Medical School and for over 11 years worked in several capacities to support and advance admissions for the university. In 2003, she became the Executive Assistant and then Administrative Director of what is now the Office of the Vice President for Faculty Affairs and in 2007, she moved to the Center for Stem Cell and Regenerative Medicine as Director of Operations. Since 2009, she has been a member of the Information Technology Services team where she currently directs the efforts of the Application Development, Database Management, and Technical Training teams. In addition to this direction, she has a hands-on role in business process analysis and project management services.

“I like that I can help customers identify and implement new technology solutions to increase productivity and efficiency, but I especially enjoy having the opportunity to work with such a dedicated and hard working group of IT professionals, faculty and staff. Through the years, I’ve seen how our University has grown and am grateful to have been a part it,” said Dana.

Most of Dana’s professional career has been spent at the University where she’s worked on an array of projects and initiatives. “Within the IT department, the recent Google Apps for Education and PeopleAdmin implementations are among those that I'm most proud of," she shared.

Dana is also very involved in the campus community as an active member of the Sustainability Committee, Enterprise Resource System (Ellucian Core Team) group, and has served on the Higher Learning Commission Accreditation Steering Committee, as well as the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee.

Dana enjoys golfing, boating, gardening and spending quality time with her husband and two teenage sons at their home in Kenosha.
