

Tri-C Accepting Applications for Community Volunteer Tutoring Program

Cuyahoga Community College (Tri-C®) is currently accepting applications for its volunteer tutoring program. The volunteer tutoring program matches students who are looking for academic support with community volunteer tutors in one-to-one or small group appointments. Tutors act as support to the students to review and reinforce materials presented in class, and are particularly needed in the areas of math, chemistry and biology.

“This is a great way to stay in touch with young people, and still use my professional skills in retirement,” said William Sullivan, a volunteer tutor serving students at Tri-C’s Eastern and Metropolitan campuses.

Student feedback has shown that support from volunteer tutors helps them feel confident about learning and studying new subjects. The overall goal is to help students stay on course through graduation.

Volunteer tutoring hours are flexible, and tutors can meet with students at any of Tri-C’s four main campuses. For more information visit the Community Volunteer Tutoring Program page of the Tri-C website, or contact volunteer tutor recruiter Lauren MacLaren by phone at (216) 987-4168 or by e-mail at lauren.maclaren@tri-c.edu

Cuyahoga Community College’s Volunteer Tutoring Program was made possible by a generous grant from the Kresge Foundation.
