The Investigation & Prosecution of Domestic Violence Cases

8 AM to 12 PM

This basic course includes the elemental dynamics of domestic violence and suggestions for conducting domestic violence investigations, as they relate to evidence based prosecution. The course further covers Missouri law as it applies to domestic violence cases, touching on current case law as it relates to evidence based prosecution and investigation, and offering ideas for aggressive & fair charging in domestic violence cases. The course aims at assisting prosecutors and law enforcement officers in responding to domestic violence calls and successfully prosecuting domestic violence cases.

The course is certified for 2 hours of POST Continuing Education Legal credits & 2 hours Interpersonal Credit by the Missouri Department of Public Safety POST program or 4 hours of CLE by the Missouri Bar.

Determining the Dominant Aggressor in Domestic Violence Cases

1 PM to 5 PM

This course includes more on the dynamic of family violence, exploring why women use force and creative ways to make a determination of the dominant aggressor in a domestic violence case, as well as offering tools and strategies for optimal success in the resolution of these difficult cases. The course further outlines Missouri law in determining valid claims of self defense/ primary aggressor.

The course is certified for 2 hours of POST Continuing Education Legal credits & 2 hours Interpersonal Credit by the Missouri Department of Public Safety POST program or 4 hours of CLE by the Missouri Bar.

About the Presenter

Catherine Vannier

In late 2006, MOPS hired Catherine Vannier as its first ever Family Violence Resource Prosecutor. The position was originally created by grant as a part of a larger, joint effort between the Office of State Courts' Administrator, Missouri Coalition Against Domestic & Sexual Violence, the Missouri Board of Probation and Parole and the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

Statewide criminal justice professionals designed the position to provide resource materials, support and training to prosecutors, law enforcement and allied professionals.

Over more than 6 years, Catherine has developed and expanded the program to assist and train thousands of justice professionals. Catherine has 11 years of experience prosecuting criminal cases full time. Catherine handled family violence cases exclusively for 6 years as a line prosecutor. She was instrumental in creating a specialized domestic violence unit in her jurisdiction. During her tenure as an active prosecutor, she learned the importance of coordinating the community's response to violence, sitting as a board member on the local family violence council, as well other police and community task forces and committees.

Catherine has given a number of trainings on the prosecution of family and sexual violence cases. She continually adapts and improves her presentations based on feedback from past audiences. She uses examples from her closed cases as well as other examples she has learned about from her trainings, travel and experience in the field.

Catherine received the 2012 James P. Damos Award by the Missouri Victims' Assistance Network (MOVA) in recognition of her willingness to go above and beyond her designated duties in order to effect positive change for victims.

Catherine recently completed service as an appointed member of the 2012 Governor's Task Force on the Prevention of Sexual Abuse of Children, which was created by the General Assembly in 2011. The Task Force Report can be located on the MOPS website at:
