- This is one of the best courses I have had as an audiologist. It was informative as well as interesting and was presented in a manner that was very conducive to learning. Thank you for a very well spent weekend.
 - Fantastic presentation and very useful information.
 - Thoroughly enjoyed this course. Learned practical and valuable information that will be immediately useful in practice.
 - Wonderful. After many tinnitus presentations, I feel prepared to start seeing tinnitus .
 - This is just what I've been looking for.
 - Great course. Learned a lot!
 - FYI, TPA website is not compatible with iPhone . and iPad devices. Did work with Safari browser.
 - Would recommend coffee availability in conference room (all day) For maximum information retention. Great course!
 - Course presented some great insights into why tinnitus can be a problem for some individuals and provided an outline for treatment.
 - Useful relevant educational opportunity for audiologists.
 - Very good—thank you.
 - Thank you!!
 - Excellent presentation and information
 - Jenn Gans was awesome
 - This was a great course! I learned a great deal of information
 - Wish I had more time to learn more!
 - Great course – very informative, would have preferred longer session on mindfulness
 - I was disappointed that there was not more of the psychological aspects associated with sound sensitivity, as the program led me to believe.
 - Occasionally the content was a little overwhelming- I'm fairly new to tinnitus training therefore, it was quite and overload. Wonderful and very informative.
 - I felt more information should have been spent on hyperacusis, misophonia, phonophobia. There was a great deal of review from the Associate course and other information seemed rushed.
 - Dr. Bauman needs to wear microphone. When he turns toward the screen to read a slide, his vocal intensity fades. With his accent and change in vocal intensity, it is difficult to maintain focus and attend to what is being said. Some new terms were used and it made it difficult for me to fill-in the word from my lexicon (auditory memory) PLEASE use a mic. More than 1 person in room had hearing aids. I have normal hearing and I struggled.
 - I know it's a lot of info, but, my brain needs more breaks to let it soak in. Good stuff!
 - Excellent!! Healthy snacks at breaks and bottled water instead of soda would be good
 - Thank you very much. Very helpful.
 - Great class. Really enjoyed the mindfulness aspect.
- Thank you for offering these courses! Great information and very motivating to offer tinnitus services in my office. Can't wait till the Fellow courses!
 - Well Done!
