If you've ever wondered whether working in financial services is right for you, who better to ask than the women who are already there. Our Winning Women Circle event is a chance for you to meet them and get their take on this exciting and dynamic career.

It's a unique opportunity for you to ask questions, get their advice and benefit from the insights that have ultimately helped them succeed. Just as importantly it's a chance to change your own perceptions about a field where women are increasingly making their mark.
