

Community Business Partnerships

adjunct instructors.

On-the-job training, internships and apprenticeships are vital in a hands-on approach to educating students in their chosen careers. Our students have had these opportunities in the fields of education, automotive services, culinary arts, cosmetology, and animal technologies.

Our programs utilize guest speakers throughout their curriculums to keep students up-to-date with technology and to stay current with requirements for entering various careers.

Advisory Board Members are key component in assisting with leading our programs' effectiveness and obtaining the necessary input from these members help to keep our programs and services current and relevant. Advisory board members are local industry leaders, from higher education, as well as small business owners and operators. Their consistent input keeps our programs closely related to current and future employment needs.

Adjunct Instructors teach a wide range of courses in Adult & Continuing Education and bring invaluable skill sets and relevant information to students. Adjunct instructors teach courses in computers, art, plumbing, electrical, black seal, water/wastewater management, sign language, and much more.
