Explore Ideas for the Remington Greenway

What is a “greenway?” Why are we talking about it? How can we apply new ideas to Remington Street? How do we better use our existing streets without widening them?

Remington Greenway project will allow the City to test new ideas like buffered bike lanes, intersection calming, drainage swells, rain gardens, curb ramps, pedestrian bulb-outs, and sidewalk enhancements.

Join City of Fort Collins staff at this opportunity to learn about green streets and how they can benefit you, receive a project overview, ask questions, and provide feedback on potential improvements to Remington Street between Mountain Avenue and Prospect Road.
