

SPEAKER BIO

ROGERS STIEG TRANSPORTATION SEMINAR

Scott Claffey, CDS, ALCM, ARP, AVP

Assistant Vice President of Safety Services - Great West Casualty Company

Scott Claffey is responsible for overseeing safety operations for the eleven states of the Eastern Region of Great West Casualty Company. He has over 28 years in the transportation industry, including operational, maintenance, and safety management functions.

Scott is a Professional Member of the American Society of Safety Engineers, National Safety Council, the North American Transportation Management Institute and the American Trucking Association Safety & Loss Prevention Council. He also serves on the oversight committee for the Transportation Research Board's Commercial Truck & Bus Safety Synthesis program. Scott received his degree in Management from Indiana Wesleyan University in 2003 and he serves as an instructor for several organizations including the National Safety Council and the North American Transportation Management Institute (NATMI). He is also an authorized OSHA Outreach instructor.

Scott is the 2009-2011 Chairman of the National Safety Council's DDC International Advisory Committee and the Chairman of the Commercial and Fleet Vehicle Section of the Transportation Safety Division. He has served on various expert panels advising public-private research initiatives, including technology deployment efforts and hazardous material security panels.

Scott has presented educational sessions on behalf of a number of Canadian organizations, including the Ontario and Atlantic Provinces Trucking Associations and the Transportation Health and Safety Association of Ontario (THSAO). He has also coconstructed several NATMI Certified Director of Safety courses in Ontario and New Brunswick.