Come Learn with Us!

Most researchers know that the federal census should be one of the first records to consult when doing family history. Census research forms the foundation of most projects. However, many don't know how to use these records to their full potential and some even think that the pre-1850 schedules are virtually useless— simply because they haven't learned to tap into the valuable information they provide.

Join us as we explore the nooks and crannies of this popular record source. We will review the basics before highlighting the unique information that each year provides and demonstrating how to use census data cooperatively with other records (maps, deeds etc.) to get results.

Classes are perfect for beginner, intermediate and advanced researchers!

Speaker

Kim Bucklaw has over 10 years of research experience. She is the Assistant Archivist and primary genealogical researcher for the Chester County Archives and Chester County Historical Society. Kim has a master's degree in American History and holds certification from the Academy of Certified Archivists.

Schedule of Events

Registration and Continental Breakfast:
8:45-9:15

Session 1: 9:15-10:45

The Basics and The Details- Learn what the census is and how to search it effectively. Also learn what unique information each census year has to offer and what you may be overlooking.

Session 2: 11:00-12:00

The Applications- Learn what to do with the information you gather from the census (especially pre-1850 schedules), how to make sense of it and how to apply it to difficult research problems.

Session 3: 12:15-1:00

Q&A Session- Anything goes! Ask questions about the day's sessions or bring in questions about your own research.
