

Generational Stewardship

Generosity looks different for different generations:

How we view it ❖ How we talk about it ❖ Where we give ❖ Why we give ❖ Ways we give

SEMINAR

Rev. Travis will explore a Biblical ethic of generosity as the Christian antidote to the chief idolatries of the age: consumerism, materialism, and acquisition. He will suggest that generosity reframes our view of the world and that it remains a deeply spiritual discipline – and that it should be reclaimed and taught as such. In this context, Travis will explore the experiences of money and generosity for each of the five living adult generations and how we partner with people of all ages to become more trusting, more joyous, and more generous.

Reverend Karl Travis - First Presbyterian Church, Fort Worth, TX.

The Rev. Karl Travis is senior pastor at First Presbyterian Church in Fort Worth, Texas. Karl earlier served as Pastor at Grosse Ile Presbyterian Church in Grosse Ile, Michigan for seven years and at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Roswell, New Mexico for eight years. Karl graduated Magna Cum Laude from Trinity University in San Antonio, studied at San Francisco Theological Seminary, and was awarded an Honours B.D. from The University of Edinburgh in Edinburgh, Scotland. Karl is noted for his work with 'generations' studies and with stewardship.
