

How much could a flood cost you?

Even a few inches of water can cause significant damage - and most homeowners policies don't cover damage caused by a flood. Here's an idea of what even just a little bit of flood damage can cost.

Water in Inches	Cost of Repair	Expected Repairs
2	$21,000	New baseboard molding, replace carpet/flooring, cleanup materials, some furniture/personal items
4	$29,650	All of the above, plus some repair work to interior walls and replacement of computer accessories
6	$39,150	All of the above, plus kitchen and bath cabinetry and repair work to electrical system, furnace and AC
12	$52,200	All of the above, plus new appliances, furniture and home accessories

With the average flood policy costing around $650 per year*, doesn't it make sense to be sure your home and your personal belongings are covered?

There is a 30 day waiting period for most flood insurance policies to take effect, so don't wait.
