

MUSKINGUM VALLEY PRESBYTERY LEADERSHIP TRAINING MANAGING CONFLICT

What causes conflict?

Two human beings in the same room (or just you, by yourself, if you are having a particular bad day)! Conflict is all around us. We each have an attitude about it and a way of managing through it that makes sense to us. When those various ways of handling conflict come together, there is (surprise!) a possibility for further conflict. This workshop will allow us to work together as we examine how we currently deal with conflict with our instinctive or learned reactions to it. We will look at ways to work with people of varying conflict styles, and discover a method for working with groups who find themselves in the midst of conflict.
