

SUNY Upstate Medical University College of Medicine
Chair, Department of Ophthalmology
Syracuse, New York

SUNY Upstate Medical University College of Medicine located in Syracuse, NY has initiated a search for an innovative leader in academic ophthalmology to serve as the next Chair, Department of Ophthalmology.

The next Chair of Ophthalmology at Upstate will head a small academic department committed to providing exemplary medical and surgical care while advancing knowledge related to vision and eye health. He/She will lead a faculty who are actively involved in teaching medical students and residents, particularly residents in Upstate's competitive, ACGME-accredited postgraduate training program in ophthalmology. The Department is an important asset for Upstate and exemplifies a balance of faculty involvement in clinical care, education and research. The Department for many years has sustained a highly productive research program supported by grants from the NIH and other extramural agencies, and is a major contributor to Upstate's Center for Vision Research.

The successful candidate will be an M.D. or M.D./Ph.D. with an outstanding record at an academic medical center as a clinician, educator, and investigator including national recognition in the field of ophthalmology. Previous experience in a major administrative role is preferred. Korn/Ferry International is assisting Upstate Medical with this important search. Please forward your CV or nominations of highly qualified candidates to:
