

Introducing Cara Gluck, UUCM Nursery Care Provider

“I love hanging out with kids! While most of my resume is marketing-focused, I have also spent ample amounts of time with kids. Ever since I was really young, I loved hanging out with little ones. I started babysitting at the ripe young age of 9. Around that time I started helping the women in the nursery at my UU Sunday school.

I also volunteered and worked for the Burnham Memorial Library. I often worked in the children’s section and would help kids pick out books and talk with them. During the summer I helped out with the various programs for kids and sometimes read for story time. One summer I volunteered with the Reading Buddy program at the library that matches kids who need help reading with a “mentor” to read with them for the summer.

Recently I spent a year in South Korea teaching English at a public elementary school grades 1 through 6. Additionally, I taught Kindergartners for six months until the visa rules changed. I always had to be on my game with fun, educational activities for the kids to participate in.” – Cara Gluck
