

FAITH & RACISM

This is a unique time in our country, and communities of faith need to engage with it.

We will talk issues of faith and all the "isms," specifically using the lens of racism.

We will explore the role of our emotional life in engaging differences, instead of just focusing on cognitive development.

Join us.

Childcare will be provided.

The Rev. Dr. Bill Kondrath has been doing work around the role of feelings in differences with hundreds of faith communities on four different continents.

(He will also be with us at #BreakingBread on Monday, January 19.)

This event is brought to you by The Slate Project.
