

COUNTY LAW LIBRARY SEEKS TRUSTEE

The San Diego Law Library has an opening for a new trustee to serve a three-year term on its governing board. By statute, the trustee must be an attorney and preferably a member of the San Diego County Bar Association. See Business & Professions Code section 6301. The term will begin January, 2015.

The following attributes are the ideal qualities of a new trustee: someone who believes in libraries and library service; is a law library user; and who is willing to promote the value of the law library to the public. A trustee should be concerned about what services the law library can provide for the community. In general, trustees are community representatives and must keep informed about the legal community and county law libraries. They are advocates for the law library.

If interested, please contact Director John Adkins, jadkins@sdlawlibrary.org
No phone calls please.

To find out more about what the Law Library does, go here:
<http://sandiegolawlibrary.org/about-us/governance/>

About the San Diego Law Library

Since 1891, the law library has served the entire county – the general public, businesses, self-represented litigants, attorneys and the courts – as the only freely accessible legal collection available to the public. The law library is an independent public agency, organized under California Business and Professions Code, and is funded from a portion of civil court filings fees and donations raised by the Law Library Justice Foundation. In addition to downtown, the library has locations in Vista, El Cajon and Chula Vista. For complete information about the Law Library's resources and services, visit www.sandiegolawlibrary.org