AAEC Athabascan Cultural Arts Institute

Twin Bears Camp, Fairbanks, Alaska
June 1-6, 2014

Susan Paskvan and her mother Eliza Jones of Koyukuk tell the traditional story Tobaan Etseh, about a grandmother porcupine who was too old to swim across the river, and the animals who offered to help her.

The Alaska Arts Education Consortium is partnering with ACHIEVE to offer teachers the opportunity to learn about the Athabascan culture through hands on traditional arts such as beading, caribou tufting, working with birch bark, learning the Denaakk'e (Koyukon Athabascan) language through games and songs, and practical activities you can take back to your classroom.
