

LIVING COMPASS WELLNESS TRAINING AND CERTIFICATION RETREATS

Leaders from your church will soon have the opportunity to come to The Nicholas Center at St. James Commons for a Living Compass wellness training and certification retreat!

Living Compass retreats will train and certify individuals from your church, lay and clergy alike, as Living Compass Congregational Wellness Advocates, who will return to your congregation to begin or expand a faith and wellness ministry in your church. We encourage churches to send several people to be trained together. There will be a small cost, yet to be determined, for this training. Scholarships will be available so that all can participate.

Email Edith Braeger at edith@livingcompass.org to find out more about the application process to become a Living Compass Congregational Wellness Advocate and to register for these retreats.

The following dates are currently open for registration in 2014. Each retreat can accommodate 14 individuals.
