

12th Annual Yale Pediatric Update

The Annual Yale Pediatric Update was started 12 years ago, in direct response to requests from primary care practitioners throughout the region seeking high quality CME on advances in the field of pediatrics and on topics of practical interest. This year's course has been designed to meet the educational needs of regional pediatric practitioners concerning the latest advances in treatment for a variety of common and potentially serious pediatric health conditions. Topics include dermatology, precocious puberty, ADHD medications, febrile infants, vaccine refusal, concussion management, reading and writing difficulties, child abuse and a rousing round of Pediatric Jeopardy.
