

The City of Austin Parks and Recreation Department, History, Arts, and Nature Division & the Dougherty Arts Center is pleased to announce our new program:

EMERGING TEACHING ARTISTS

ARTWORKS FELLOWSHIPS AND SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE

In partnership with MINDPOP, Austin Creative Alliance, and the National Endowment for the Arts, the Emerging Teaching Artists (ETA) seminar at the Dougherty Arts Center guides new artist educators through an exciting series of culture-arts based workshops, lectures, labs and activities to learn effective and engaging techniques and strategies for teaching art in the classroom and the community.

CLASSES MEETINGS, TIMES, AND COSTS:

- $149 for 12 classes
- June 18 - August 1, 2014
- Wednesday evenings 6 - 9pm
- Saturday mornings 10 - 1pm
Class does not meet the week of the 4th of July
- Art supplies for workshop classes will be provided

Classes and workshops will be held at the Arts School at Dougherty Arts Center:
1110 Barton Springs Road, Austin, TX 78704

ARTWORKS FELLOWSHIPS

Artworks Fellowships will be awarded to seven individual artists from underrepresented communities and include ETA trainings, a mentorship with a professional teaching artist or classroom teacher, six professional development workshops during the school year, and opportunities for networking.
