

Is it Social Bullying?

Strategies for Assessing and Intervening with Older Adults

Marsha Frankel, LICSW, ACSW, Clinical Director
Kathy Burnes, M.Ed. Project Manager
Jewish Family & Children's Service

Social Bullying is a concern both for older adults and staff who work with them. This program will explore what is and isn't bullying and provide a multi-faceted approach that has proven effective in addressing the problem. Participants will be provided with the tools to help staff and older adults play an active role in decreasing bullying.

“Social Bullying? How you can make a Positive Difference”

A new “train the trainer” program for use with older adults will be introduced. This program can be implemented in senior centers, elder housing or anywhere older adults congregate.
