Our clinical services include: comprehensive assessment and treatment with physicians and nurse practitioners; Chinese medicine; chiropractic medicine; psychotherapy, ayurveda, guided imagery and other mind/body approaches; nutrition counseling; and therapeutic massage and bodywork. Other IHH programs include: inpatient bedside services and chaplaincy, Health & Healing Stores, employee wellness initiatives, and community education.

Ideal candidates for our specialty clinics are:

- Committed to a team-based approach to patient care; have excellent communication skills.
- Experienced; have been in practice a minimum of 3-5 years in a collaborative and team-based environment, using an electronic health record system.
- Knowledgeable, with expertise in acupuncture, functional medicine, osteopathy and manual therapies, nutritional and herb-based approaches and mind/body techniques with clinically-demonstrated efficacy.
- Dedicated to innovation, ongoing program development, practice growth and expansion.
- Self-starters, self-motivated and self-directed; compassionate, creative, enthusiastic, adaptable, flexible.
- Committed to patient outcomes measurement and data driven improvement to demonstrate the value and effectiveness of care through tracking health improvements, functionality, quality of life, access and affordability.

The IHH Clinics currently serve adults and children with a wide variety of acute and chronic conditions including autoimmune dysfunction, digestive disorders, chronic pain and fatigue, hormonal and thyroid conditions, heart disease, cancer, depression, anxiety, insomnia, weight management concerns and women's health issues. Our clinics currently bill insurance for many of these services and are funded to assist low income patients.

The IHH's nationally recognized clinics are part of the Sutter Pacific Medical Foundation. The Institute for Health & Healing was founded in 1990 at California Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, and opened California's first state-accredited integrative medicine clinic in 1997. Under the leadership of Medical Director, William B. Stewart, MD, Regional Director, Judith Tolson, and Lead Physician, Jeffrey Draisin, MD, the IHH is a nationally-renowned integrative medicine program.

The IHH is opening its new Integrative Primary Care practice in San Francisco this summer, and is also recruiting for Integrative Primary Care physicians. Please refer to the position posting "Integrative Primary Care Physicians".
