

Beyond the Basics: Advancing Your Motivational Interviewing Skills

Meets weekly on Wednesdays from May 22, 2013 through June 19, 2013
(5 sessions)

1:00 – 2:00 pm Eastern
(includes weekly live meetings and self-directed learning)

Course Description

This online instructor-led course will cover key concepts introduced in the 3rd edition of Motivational Interviewing (Miller and Rollnick, 2013) and focus on:

- Honing the use of complex reflections
- Eliciting and responding to preparatory and mobilizing change talk
- Analyzing practice audio tapes using the MI Treatment Integrity instrument
- Helping people plan for change

This course is designed for practitioners with a solid foundation in Motivational Interviewing (MI) who are seeking to enhance their competence in using this evidence-based practice. Participants will engage in learning through a blend of live webcasts, written materials, exercises, and practice opportunities with peer and instructor feedback in learning circles. The course will be led by members of the Motivational Interviewing Network of Trainers (MINT).

Course Instructors

Ken Kraybill, MSW is a Senior Associate at the Center for Social Innovation and Director of Training for t3. Drawing upon 18 years of direct service experience in homeless settings, Ken has developed various curricula, resource guides, and trainings to inform and equip others in the field. He provides training nationally on topics including Motivational Interviewing, outreach, case management, and supervision. Ken also facilitates staff retreats to foster resiliency and renewal for care providers. He is particularly committed to helping others develop skills in Motivational Interviewing, an approach relevant to virtually all areas of health and human services. Ken is a member of the Motivational Interviewing Network of Trainers (MINT). He has an MSW from the University of Washington, Seattle, WA.

Jeff Olivet, MA is the Chief Executive Officer of the Center for Social Innovation. He has been working on issues of poverty, homelessness, HIV, and healthcare access since 1993. He has been an outreach worker, case manager, housing director, writer, speaker, and activist. An experienced trainer, Jeff has developed curricula and trained people in the U.S. and internationally on Motivational Interviewing, trauma, homelessness, outreach, self-care, Critical Time Intervention, harm reduction, and HIV prevention. After Hurricane Katrina, he helped create a Shelter Health manual and training curriculum, working with communities throughout the southeast during the months following the storm. Since the Center for Social Innovation was founded in 2006, Jeff has become a national leader in developing innovative online training on best practices for working with vulnerable people.
