

Bentley & Bailey We got these sweeties from the PetSmart in Pittsburgh Mills in September of 2012. They were OOS fosters, and though they weren't litter mates or even foster mates they were the sweetest package deal in the world. Our friends who insist they "don't like cats" come to our home and our instantly obsessed with our two because they are SO people friendly! Bentley is our orange tabby who my boyfriend calls "the third dog" because he fetches and can hold his own with Brunswick (our boxer) and Bombay (a lab mix who we also adopted from Orphans). Bailey, our tiny grey and white little girl, is convinced she's a person and typically does not "stoop" to interacting with the dogs. They are the gentlest, sweetest things. Whoever fostered these two are godsend because they are so well-adjusted and personable. We just want to thank everybody involved for giving us three of our four furkids- they are our whole life!
